GOLF COURSE VISION PLAN

Inspired by classic golf course architecture, this 216 acre Tom Weiskopf designed golf course at Kukui'ula will mold itself with the rich Hawaiian land. Not only is Tom a former British Open champion, he is also a well-respected golf course designer with more than 25 world courses bearing his name.

"The ocean views, the island backdrop and the natural beauty of a tropical island will make Kukui'ula one of the most memorable golf experiences in the Hawaiian islands," Tom Weiskopf

At 7006 total yards, the 18-hole golf course is designed with approximately 120 feet of elevation change providing breathtaking oceans views from several vantage points. Adhering to the plantation theme, golf play will move through orchards, gardens and native Hawaiian landscapes to make the experience at Kukui'ula like no other. Set on the sunny south shore of Kauai, this seashore paspalum course will be playable year round with prevailing trade winds testing on almost every hole.
